

Best Start Project Structure

This diagram outlines the different groups and Working Groups that have been developed to develop and sustain Best Start and how they relate to each other.

A variety of tools and processes will be used to ensure that communication flows between and across groups, as well as the broader community. It is expected that these will continue to be modified and added to throughout the course of the project based on experience and need and to allow the project to be responsive to local needs. Discussions during consultations have already highlighted a reluctance to have additional meetings or be inundated with minutes as the main way to keep informed.

Key strategies for communication include:

- Newsletters
- Development of a website (identified as a project)
- Decisions and relevant discussions documented and available in a variety of ways (i.e./available at forums, partnerships and working groups, on request, through mailing lists etc)
